Then Our "New Peoria" Is What You Want

It has perfect working discs, fitted with dust proof chilled bearings, single draw bars that will not gather trash, staggered spoke wheels with 7-inch hub and 3-inch tires, continuous rear bar with truss rod to support seat and keep drill from sagging, direct pressure in rear of disc; a feature we claim will make this drill work perfectly in any land suitable for sowing grain and where other drills cannot be operated. A seat in center of drill convenient to lever is also furnished. Drop in and let us show you what this drill can do, and furnish you with the names of a score of satisfied users. One feature of our drill that puts it in a class by itself and makes it superior to all other drills on the market is the "Peoria Disc Shoe." You won't find the disc shoe on any other press drill on earth, the Peoria people have that feature cinched and they are going to hang on to it. If you want to know why we can grow more wheat to the acre after this drill than any other with the same amount of grain sown, come in and let us explain to you the "New Peoria Disc Shoe Drill."

Death of James Slattery

James Slattery of Tuckahoe, whose illness was noticed in THE LEDGER, died this morning at 1:20 o'clock at Wilson Hospital after a short illness with double pneumonia, aged 32. His remains were removed to his home in the county. Jim, as he was called by his intimates, was a genial favorite with a large circle of acquaintances on account of his generous and kindly acts and goodness of heart. Notwithstanding that everything that gentle hands and loving hearts could do to prolong his life, he peacefully passed away at the hour above stated. He leaves five brothers and four sisters to mourn his loss and untimely death.

The funeral will take place Monday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Patrick's Church, with services by Rev. Father P. M. Jones. Interment at Washington Cemetery.

The inventory and appraisal of the personal estate of John Hayes, deceased, amounting to $7,601.17, was produced in Court, filed and ordered recorded.

MRS. LAVINA VIRGINIA DAVIS.
This morning at a quarter of 2 o'clock, Mrs. Lavina Virginia Davis, wife of Mr. Thomas A. Davis, founder and former Editor and owner of THE PUBLIC LEDGER, passed to the realms of rest surrounded by her sorrowing loved ones.

With a smile upon her wasted lips and a faint murmur of "Uncle Tom," her husband, as she always addressed Mr. Davis, the spirit of this gentle and most excellent wife and beloved aunt, and neighbor passed to the great beyond, where at the Mercy seat of the great Jehovah her beautiful and serene life will speak for her in far more eloquent and convincing terms than all the spoken or written words and sermons coming from this earth.

Mrs. Davis had been most distressingly ill for months and years and during all her painful prostration no murmur of reproach or regret came from her. Her nerve-rendering aches and long days and nights of suffering were borne with the patience and the fortitude that always accompanied the true Christian character and the serene trust and faith that enables and translates and uplifts to a sense of peace that passeth all understanding.

Mrs. Davis was the daughter of Allen and Mary Martin and was born at Kirk's Springs in Lewis county, Kentucky, on June 5th, 1844, and was sixty-eight years of age at the time of her death. Her grandfather, Mr. Nathaniel Kirk was the original owner of Kirk Springs; here she spent her childhood and maidenhood days.

Thomas A. Davis and Lavina Virginia Martin were united in marriage at the old M. E. Church, South, in Second street, Maysville, Ky., on January 7th, 1868, the Rev. Joseph Rand officiating. No children were born to them, and deceased is survived only by her distressed husband and two loving and heart-broken nieces, who resided with her, Mrs. Ida B. Duley and Miss Mollie T. Edmonds.

Mrs. Davis was the last of her immediate family. As to her life here in Maysville it is an open chapter. She was a life-long and devoted member of the M. E. Church, South, and for years she conducted one of the leading millinery stores in Kentucky. She was a careful, conscientious and progressive business woman. Financial and commercial success followed her efforts and she retired only a few years ago with a comfortable fortune in her own right which she used with a liberal hand for church, city and loved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis resided in Mr. Davis' elegant home on Riverview Terrace, in West Second street, their home being one of the most beautiful and picturequely situated residences on the Ohio River. Here they led a quiet and retired life, and the loss of his esteemed and life-long companion is a severe affliction to Mr. Davis, who is himself not in the best of health. However, these home-breaking and heart-breaking visitations come to us all, and as the Lord knoweth best and tempereth the biting winds to the shorn lamb, thus also doeth He pour the oil of hope and trust into the hearts of His suffering children, giving them strength and fortitude to bear all burdens, thereby themselves gaining a crown of forgiveness and righteousness.

Blessed be the memory of Lavina Virginia Davis and may the sweetest roses bloom and the lightest zephyrs blow over the last resting place of her beloved "Aunt Ida."

There have been no arrangements made for the funeral and interment of Mrs. Davis at this time.

The interment however, will take place in the Davis family lot in the old Maysville Cemetery, probably Monday afternoon.

Keep Smiling

Many Little Helps in Calling Fate's Bluff

By Rev. FRANK CRANE, Chicago

IT IS wonderful what you can do if you will only keep your chin up. This is a strange world, and one of the strangest things about it is the way it sympathizes with success.

We are supposed to sympathize with failure and grief, but we don't. I am going to tell you the truth about this naughty world, and the truth is that whichever way you're going, up or down, people want to help you along.

If you are going up we all want to boost; if you are going down we all want to push. That is what we call sympathy.

You hear complaints that the rich are growing richer and the poor poorer. That has always been the case, simply because it is human nature. Society has always been organized to increase the wealth of the wealthy and the power of the powerful; also to make the weak weaker.

There's no use whining about it. It is simply one of the flinty laws of nature. The only thing to do with nature's laws is to adjust oneself to them and not complain.

This might be called the law of the inertia of prosperity. You are guilty yourself. Whom do you want to see? The man everybody wants to see. And you read the book everybody's reading and go to the store where it is "the thing" to go.

"Follow the crowds," says the advertiser, with the shrewd knowledge of our makeup.

If you have a hundred dollars ahead to whom do you want to hand it? To the poor man who needs it? Not at all, but to the rich banker who doesn't need it.

If I ask you for the loan of a quarter you will pass it over to me without a word if you think it is a trifling matter to me; but if you suspect I really am in want and need the quarter to buy a little food with, that's quite another affair; you can't encourage that sort of thing; I should go to the Associated Charities.

Now, the way to use this law is to feign prosperity even if you have it not. Keep your chin up.

Wear good clothes. Don't withdraw from the society of the prosperous. Look pleasant. Don't let yourself get down at the heel. Don't get that poor beggar look on your face.

It isn't hypocrisy. It isn't pretense. It is sheer courage. It is letting the world know that while you live you propose to fight, and that like old General Taylor you "don't know when you're licked."

Keep smiling and an unfriendly universe will not know what to do with you; so it will crown you.

Says Alfred de Vigny: "All those that struggle against the unjust heavens have had the admiration and secret love of men."

Fate is a bluff. Face her, defy her, and she will fawn on you.

Fate is cruel, but only to the quitter.

Problem of the City is the Greatest

By James P. Burnet, Atlanta, Ga.

Men are casting about for reform, and they don't know where to begin, so vast and so deep is the problem.

Figures measured each year show that the denser the population, the greater the death rate—in other words, the closer men live together, the quicker they die.

In a certain English city, to prove that congested dwelling-places caused death, a certain area in the slums was demolished and modern, sanitary tenements erected in their place. The death rate sank something like 75 per cent, as a result. And yet the hordes of men crowd into the city, and conditions grow more congested, crime gains a new impetus and death increases at a horrible rate.

Understand me, I do not mean that every new recruit into the city means that that person is evil and that crime increases as a direct result. The point is that wherever conditions are congested and where poverty reigns crime increases, as figures have proved, and poverty is one of the most prolific sources of crime.

The problem of the city is a hydra-headed one, and sociologists are beginning to realize that, while it demands instant attention, they do not know how to cope with it.

Let Bachelor Forget His Lonely Misery

By JANE ERICKSEN, Sacramento, Cal.

I cannot see the advisability of tagging a man because he is a bachelor. In the first place, it is cruel, to say the least. Just because a fellow has been so unfortunate as to be left outside of matrimony's hospitable gates there is no reason why we should throw it up to him. There are very few men who have not met at least one girl whom they would like to marry, and that they have failed to qualify up to the lady's requirements is no sound reason for unseemly mirth and merriment from the world at large.

Did you ever get turned down? Then you know what a delightful sensation it is. How would you like to have that hideous experience, which has caused you much inward anguish, to say nothing of humiliation, blared abroad to an unsympathetic public?

How would you like having to wear a button or a badge boldly displayed on your coat lapel signifying that you belong to the great wandering family of Turned Downs? It wouldn't set well, would it?

So I declare, in the cause of common courtesy, that it wouldn't be fair to tag the bachelor.

Let him forget his lonely misery if he can.

Don't doom him to remember his troubles every time he puts on his coat.

Let him alone and maybe some day when nobody's paying much attention to him he may manage to slip through the big gates. You never can tell.

Life's Turning Points.

It is impossible to make a distinction between the course of our lives and the course of our thoughts. But both are subject to change, sudden and unexpected. There are turning points in our characters no less than in our career, and often the two are so closely related that they cannot be considered apart. It is worth while sometimes to trace back to their source our ideas and impressions, our new lines of thought. So much we owe to training, so much to elective study and chosen companionship, so much to the lessons and experiences of the life we are leading. But if you glance back you may see that what has most deeply moved you, what has most sharply deflected your way of regarding life, was something entirely unlooked for.—Anna Woodward.

HE SAVED 83 LIVES

Capt. W. H. Chelton Held Record as Rescuer.

Took Many Desperate Risks, Braving Gales and Iceflows in Chesapeake Bay to Get Perishing Crews Ashore.

Baltimore, Md.—Capt. William H. Chelton, a Chesapeake bay commander, died at his home in Lawsons, a suburb of this city, the other day, aged sixty-nine years. Captain Chelton had been a sailor from his youth and commanded a vessel when he was fifteen years old.

Captain Chelton had a record unequalled in America for saving human lives, the score to his credit being 83, and his work in this direction beginning in August, 1859, when, as a boy of fifteen years, he leaped into the bay in Baltimore, at the foot of Calvert street and saved a girl who had fallen overboard. An effort was made to raise a purse for the lad, but he refused to accept anything and he never for his subsequent rescues earned a cent.

To his dying day, however, he was proud of a United States medal awarded by congress in 1902, following the publication in the Sun of an account of his lifework of humane endeavor.

Captain Chelton, though a great lifesaver, has also taken a life. This was when he was a deputy sheriff of Somerset county. On May 28, 1907, he attempted to arrest Frederick Long, who was wanted for larceny. He ordered Long to surrender, but the man fired twice at him and then Chelton used his pistol. The man shot twice again and ran through a field, where he was found dying with a bullet in his lungs. On that occasion, too, he drove several miles with the wounded man to get medical aid.

Captain Chelton was born in Northumberland county, Virginia, in 1844, but lived in Maryland during nearly all of his life.

He was of medium height, but had the breadth of shoulders and depth of chest which betoken great strength and a pair of sturdy legs which stood him in good stead in many feats of swimming by which he saved men on the deep. He also made several rescues on land and saved three women from being killed by trains.

He is said to have had ample cause for believing republics ungrateful, for he joined the Union army at the outbreak of the Civil war, expecting a bounty of $300 besides his pay for a long service. When his term of enlistment was over and he settled up with Uncle Sam he received a check for $6 which, he was told, was all that was coming to him. He never cashed the check, but kept it as a souvenir.

During a greater part of his time in the army he was piloting federal gunboats in Maryland and Virginia waters on blockade duty. In this service he piloted three gunboats in an attack on Cherrystone, the fight lasting from early afternoon until the next morning.

Rescues by Capt. W. H. Chelton:

1859—August—Rescued girl at head of basin.

1863—Fourteen United States soldiers.

1863—Two men at Pungoteague, swimming 100 yards to reach them.

1871—Man clinging to North point buoy.

1871—John W. Crisfield at Crisfield, Md.

1872—Girl at Crisfield.

1874—Girl, fifteen years old, Crisfield.

1878—Nine men from a boat off Sharpe Island.

1878—Nine members of crew of schooner Northampton in Magogy river.

1887—Captain and crew of five from sloop Samuel Bruster at Hog Island in the Potomac.

1888—Captain and crew of three of schooner Steffull at Tally point, Maryland.

1889—Captain and son and crew of four of puny Fleetwing in Tangier sound.

1889—Picked up two men adrift in boat on coast of North Carolina.

1890—Man, two girls and a boy at Tangier Island.

1895—February 13—Captain and crew of five from schooner E. C. Thomas at Point Lookout.

1895—February 15—Thirteen men from schooners R. H. Dougherty and Lightning, landing them in the Patuxent.

Rescues on land:

Woman at Salisbury pulled from in front of an engine.

Misses Mary Tawes and Nettie Crockett, knocked into a ditch at Salisbury, Md., from in front of a train.

IMMIGRANT IS 7 FT. 2 INCHES

Ship Has to Provide a Special Berth for Giant Pole, Twenty-Two Years Old.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Ignatius Ziemazus, who arrived here with 514 other immigrants on the Prinz Adalbert of the Hamburg-American line, from Hamburg, came to the United States to grow up with the country.

His ambition would seem to be doomed to disappointment, for Ignatius, who is twenty-two years old, has thrived so well in his native land that he stands seven feet two inches above the earth.

Ziemazus comes from Poland, and is a farmer. He had to occupy a special berth because of his size, and at table no one could sit opposite him because of the length of his legs.

To the immigration inspectors he said he would go west to purchase a farm, and if he met a suitable young woman he would make her his wife. Ziemazus was well supplied with money.

Bad weather is chronicled for nearly every day of the voyage in the log of the Adalbert, which arrived one day late. Its 138 cabin passengers, mostly tourists returning home after a sojourn in Europe, remained below decks during a greater part of the passage.

The dark hold of the big liner was a veritable child's toyland, there being nearly three hundred big cases filled with playthings.

SEES GROWTH OF LUNACY

Dr. Forbes Winslow Declares There Will Be More Insane Than Sane in 300 Years.

London.—There will be more lunatics in the world than sane people three hundred years hence, was the prophecy Dr. Forbes Winslow made. This prophecy is based upon the present rate of the growth of lunacy as revealed by recent returns.

Doctor Winslow expressed strong disagreement with the statement made at the Eugenics congress by Doctor Mott to the effect that increase in lunacy was more apparent than real, and told a press representative that in making such a statement Doctor Mott apparently referred to London only. Dr. Forbes Winslow said that from his knowledge of the progress of lunacy in all parts of the world he had come to the conclusion that "we are rapidly approaching a mad world." He added: "In every part of the world civilization is advancing, and so insanity is also bound to advance. There were 38,762 registered lunatics in 1859, but 135,000 at the present day. That showed the alarming increase."

If Doctor Mott's theory is accepted, we shall wake up when it is too late to prevent a further increase. What happened to the pauper class in London, as an alleged proof against the

BOY PROVES GOOD SLEEPER

He Does Not Awaken When Thrown From Wagon Into an Automobile.

Columbus, Ohio.—Ye wild-eyed victims of insomnia, who woo the soothing goddess sleep by all the means which fertile minds suggest, read this unadorned tale of an every-day event and wonder.

The strange phenomenon of an automobile running at a rapid rate, hitting the rear end of a vegetable wagon, lifting a sleeping boy out of the rear of the wagon, tossing him into the machine, which sped on for a distance, all without awakening the boy, occurred here.

The boy was Stanley Cramer, living fourteen miles northeast of the city. The automobile belonged to Walter J. Jeffrey, a local manufacturer. It was not known at first that the boy had been transferred to the automobile unharmed, and pedestrians rushed to the demolished wagon, expecting to find the boy dead and a search was commenced of nearby alleys and streets. In about an hour the boy returned and told of how he had awakened to find himself in a rapidly moving automobile.

TRUANT GOLDFISH IN RIVER

Pair 10 Years Old and 17 Inches Long Escape From Garden During a Flood.

London.—For five months now two monster Twelvenham goldfish have had a lease of freedom in the Thames. They are the property of George Beale and his brother of Stonydeep house, who, since their disappearance, have offered £2 reward for the return of either of them.

"About a fortnight ago," Mrs. Beale said today, "a boy caught one of the pair. He grasped it and was startled beyond measure when he saw what a monster it was. Just then a policeman appeared and the boy, thinking he had done wrong, returned it to the water."

The goldfish swam away from home when the river overflowed into Mr. Beale's garden, where they had lived for many years.

Look for the Pink Tint.

real increase of lunacy, was very much beside the question, taken as a whole. Fifty years ago there was one lunatic in 575 of the population, but now one in 236. At that rate of progress, he said, in three hundred years' time there would be more lunatics in the world than sane people.

SNAKES IN MRS. M'ATEE'S BED

This Time a Blacksnake; 20 Years Ago It Was a Rattlesnake.

Meyersdale, Pa.—Going into her "spare room" Mrs. Carrie McAtee found the bed occupied by a big black snake, which sprang past her and disappeared. A few hours later she tipped her way to the spare room and there the snake again was curled up on the bed. This time Mrs. McAtee chopped off the blacksnake's head with a hoe.

About 20 years ago a big rattlesnake got into bed with Mrs. McAtee and her grandmother. Mrs. McAtee discovered the reptile's presence when her bare feet touched its clammy body. When she turned back the bed covers she was horrified to see a glistening snake with 12 rattles. She and her grandmother succeeded in leaving the bed without being bitten and the snake was killed.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped By Common Sense Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ill are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

THOUGHT HE KNEW THE SIGNS

Aged Dandy Could See Nothing to His Passenger Except a Man Instituting Ledges.

Bob Hull, the champion story teller of Savannah, had occasion lately to take a business trip into interior Georgia. He took his golf clubs with him, intending to stop on his way for a match on the famous links at Augusta.

He dropped off the train at his business destination—a small town on a branch road—and carrying his luggage climbed into an ancient hack and bade the driver, who was an old negro man, take him to the local hotel.

The negro eyed the queer-looking yellow leather bag that his passenger carried with the peculiar looking sticks in it. His curiosity got the best of him finally.

"Boss," he began, "please, suh, 'scuse me—but mout I ax you a question?"

"Go ahead and ask," said Mr. Hull. "Whut kind of a lodge is you institutin'?"—Saturday Evening Post.

Sweeping Statement.

"Scribbles is going to quit being a press humorist."

"Did he tell you that?"

"No, but he said he was not going to write any more jokes about mothers-in-law, bald-headed men, women's hats, intoxicated husbands and family fights."

A Paradoxical Ballot.

"I should think the women voting in the new suffrage states would strike out 'obstacle.'"

"What is that?"

"How can the matrons of a party cast their maiden vote?"

Groping.

"What is Miss Hammerah trying to play on the piano?"

"In the Shadow."

"I thought she seemed to be having some difficulty in finding the right keys."

HARD TO SEE.

Even When the Facts About Coffee are Plain.

It is curious how people will refuse to believe what one can clearly see. Tell the average man or woman that the slow but cumulative poisonous effect of caffeine—the alkaloid in tea and coffee—tends to weaken the heart, upset the nervous system and cause indigestion, and they may laugh at you if they don't know the facts.

Prove it by science or by practical demonstration in the recovery of coffee drinkers from the above conditions, and a large per cent of the human family will shrug their shoulders, take some drugs and—keep on drinking coffee or tea.

"Coffee never agreed with me nor with several members of our household," writes a lady. "It enervates, depresses and creates a feeling of languor and heaviness. It was only by leaving off coffee and using Postum that we discovered the cause and way out of these ills."

"The only reason, I am sure, why Postum is not used altogether to the exclusion of ordinary coffee is, many persons do not know and do not seem willing to learn the facts and how to prepare this nutritious beverage. There's only one way—according to directions—boil it fully 15 minutes. Then it is delicious." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

JAPANESE HOME LIFE

THE duties and functions of the many departments of life in Japan are clearly defined and the general acquiescence in such definitions is a mark of orderly instinct rather than servility that it is ever ready to recognize its own inferiority. That the duties of women have been clearly indicated, that they show no disposition to overstep the boundaries assigned to time, is simply a manifestation of the spirit that pervades all classes. It is hardly a question of higher or lower, superior or inferior; it is a matter of duty—of "bushido."

Certainly the Japanese woman is not regarded as a handmaid. She has never been without her honorable position in the body politic, nor has the value of her peculiar duties ever been slighted. The duties of bushido are considered to be binding upon the woman as upon the man, and inasmuch as bushido means loyalty, so the woman must be loyal to her husband, as the man must be to the emperor and to the country. It is only those who are led by a false independence to revolt against all ideas of service who will criticize a ready acceptance by the women of Japan of a domestic sphere which is as important in its way as the larger service to the empire.

But the Samurai woman was not confined wholly to the household. She was even taught the use of arms, that she might help her father or her husband if the need should arise, and also that she might defend her own honor. Japanese history has many examples of women who became governors, who led military expeditions and who were famous in literature, art, education and religion. Indeed, the path to public honor has always been open to the Japanese woman, but it could be attained only by public service. There was only one standard of human value and that was adhesion to the national interest. The woman who performed her whole duty to the home was as worthy of veneration as the man who performed his whole duty to the army and to the country.

There have been distinct feminine periods in the history of Japan. Such a period followed closely upon the introduction of Buddhism, which, with its incitements to charity, did much to stimulate what may be called a feminist movement. Such literary stars as Murasaki Shikibu and Sei Shonagon not only were the most famous authors of their time, but their works are still classics. The education of women was zealously fostered, and we hear of meetings at which women competed with one another in poetry, music and art. Works of charity became honorable duties, and we hear much of the Empress Komei, who distinguished herself by personal service to lepers.

But the feminist movement in Japan has attained its main successes since the restoration and the fall of the Shogunate. Many Japanese women have visited foreign countries, received a foreign education and returned to their own country to play the part of propagandists. The popular education of girls has made great strides, and even the extension of political suffrage to women finds its advocates not only among women themselves, but among politicians and leaders of thought. But progress in this direction is likely to be slow. A society that has lately emerged from feudalism and that is accustomed to assign fixed duties to its various grades is not usually tolerant of innovations or efforts to enlarge the boundaries of particular classes. Buddhism, moreover, is likely to play some part in retarding the political advance of women, and in confining her activities to the household, to practical charities and to religion.

Among the public institutions now managed by women may be mentioned the Nurse association, the Red Cross society, the Patriotic association, Fukuden, Kiwai and Jikei—a hospital. Women are also interested in many productive industries and in art activities. There are also now women doctors, and the department of communications employs women officials. Physical culture for women is also being adopted with energy and this is a fitting sequel to the Samurai injunction that required women to regulate their emotions and suppress all those weaknesses that their western sisters usually attribute to nerves.

Physical culture for women is also being adopted with energy and this is a fitting sequel to the Samurai injunction that required women to regulate their emotions and suppress all those weaknesses that their western sisters usually attribute to nerves.

The Woman's university of Japan may be taken as an expression of Japanese ideas upon the question of education for women. It was founded by Mr. Maruse, who began his work thirty-six years ago, and who has been unrelenting in its advancement. The object of the university is to educate women to fulfill their duties toward the state and society and to become an influence in the life of the nation. The university contains 52 buildings, including a library of 11,500 volumes, a chemical laboratory and a lecture hall.

The curriculum begins with a kindergarten and there are departments for household science, literature, English and education, the first of these including mathematics, physics, chemistry and physiology. The university has 865 regular members, 141 associate members, 37 advisory members, 151 junior members and 11 honorary members. The following exhortation given to the students by Mr. Maruse leaves nothing to be desired for its amplitude and intent: "The students are enjoined to learn, incessantly impressed upon their minds, that they are to make it their chief aim and duty to cultivate and develop to the fullest extent all their faculties as well as their womanly virtues, and to remain faithful to the university, never forgetting to be and do good, study and to learn."

Much, of course, remains to be done for the advancement of women of Japan, but much has already been done. Japan has at least broken away from the ancient traditions of the east and has set her foot on the path that leads to the entire emancipation of women. In 1878 Japan had a debt of $38,886,

331. Thirty years later the debt had risen to $1,120,000,000. This immense increase was due mainly to the Chinese and Russian war, and a continuing expenditure on a large scale is necessitated by the national defense. In the year 1908 the army and navy cost $144,189,183. Between April 1, 1895, and March 1, 1909, the army cost $376,085,088 and the navy $313,443,440. The national defense has cost a total of $893,423,523 within fourteen years and this without counting the cost of the Russian war, Corea, Formosa and Manchuria. A merchant marine has been established, many extensive public works undertaken, including railroads, telegraphs and telephones, and all these things have been done by a country that contains only 26,000 square miles of arable soil.

Under such conditions it is easy to believe that taxation is the question of the day in Japan and has been so for many years. Since the outbreak of the Russian war the land tax has ranged from 3 per cent. to 17.5 per cent. The tax on liquors ranged from $5 per 40 gallons up to 17.40% per 40 gallons, according to the percentage of alcohol.

Then comes the income tax, which is arranged upon a sort of graduated scale. Before the war the tax paid by "juridical" persons was 2½ per cent., but after the war an additional tax was levied equal to 80 per cent. up to 400 per cent. of the ordinary rate. An income tax of 2 per cent. was also levied on public loan funds and company debentures. All other persons not already assessed as above pay a rate in proportion to their income. Before the war those with an income of 300 yen ($150) per annum paid 1 per cent., and this increased according to the income up to 5½ per cent. Now the lowest income pays 10 per cent. and the highest 20.35 per cent. There are various exceptions, such as army and navy officers, pensioners, etc. There is also a tax on textiles, an excise duty on sugar, and a substantial revenue from the post office. The customs tariff also is responsible for a substantial income amounting to about $22,000,000 a year. Mention should also be made of the state monopolies of tobacco, salt and camphor, worth about $25,000,000 a year.

Adachi Kinoshita describes the willingness of the Japanese people to be taxed and their uncomplaining response to demands that are necessitated by the good of the country. His statement is so remarkable that it is worthy of quotation. He says: "In 1895 we went to war with China. Our government wanted money, and wanted it badly. It let our people know about its needs in terms of war loans. To the first call the people answered by putting up $25,000,000. The government wanted more, and on the second call it succeeded in getting from the people $15,000,000—in all $40,000,000. The people gave this amount very willingly. That fact was very plain on the very face of it. It was widely advertised also. The thing that was not so well known, especially outside of the country, however, was that this was all that the people could do at the time—and a little more. Nine

The bills discounted by the Bank of France in 1910 included 1,543,373 which were below the value of 10 francs ($2). Fifty-five per cent. of the total of bills discounted were for amounts less than $20.

To remove the spots of white paint from linoleum, keep them saturated with turpentine until they soften, or if they are very old and hard, use equal parts of turpentine and ammonia. They will soon soften and easily rub off, then wash with warm water and use a little soap, then rinse and wipe dry.

THE WOMAN THAT CROSSED HIS PATH

By PAUL TRENT.

It was the third time that the two men had made the same seat on the embankment their resting place for the night.

"I'm wondering what it'll be like when the cold weather comes."

"Sufficient unto the day," Philbank laughed harshly.

It was weakness and not vice that had brought him to this state. In South Africa he had fought brilliantly, and returned to England with the brightest prospects. But a woman had crossed his path—a woman with the devil's beauty that had made him forget everything save his desire. Career had been sacrificed at her altar—money had been thrown away—and then she had coldly dismissed him. The descent had been rapid, and now for months he had been existing from hand to mouth—and for the last few days homeless and half-starved.

"I wish to God they'd give me another chance," the younger suddenly said.

Philbank looked at him suspiciously and seemed about to speak, then hesitated, and finally remained silent.

"Could you make good—with an other chance?" he asked at last.

"I believe so."

"Then you shall have one. Wait a moment."

Philbank hailed a passing policeman.

"Officer, can you oblige me with a piece of paper and pencil?" he asked.

The constable put his hand in his pocket and produced the required articles. Philbank wrote rapidly, and handed back the pencil with thanks.

"Take this to the Savoy and ask for Colonel Strathmore. But I want your word that you won't say where you have seen me," Philbank said roughly to the other. "Good luck to you."

"Thanks, and—"

"Oh along."

Philbank watched him cross to the other side of the embankment.

"I believe I can do it—now," he muttered, and drew near the parapet. For a moment his muscles were taut and then his body relaxed.

"I haven't got the pluck," he said with a groan, and he despised himself the more for his cowardice.

He was about to turn away, when a shrill cry could be heard some thirty yards off, and a crowd quickly gathered, all eyes peering eagerly toward the river. He hurried along and asked what had happened.

"A woman has jumped over," some one said.

Philbank threw off his coat and dove toward a dark object which could just be seen. He swam strongly, but as he reached her she struggled fiercely to free herself from his grasp.

"Let me die."

"Don't be a fool!" he cried, and when she continued to fight he raised his fist and struck her sharply on the temple.

Then her struggles ceased and he commenced to tow her slowly toward the embankment. Her clothes became saturated and his burden the heavier, but still he struggled on. Bodily weakness told at last and his strength wavered, until his arms barely moved.

"I'm done!" he gasped, and his senses were vanishing, when a dark body loomed over them and voices sounded in his ears.

When Philbank recovered consciousness he was lying in a bed with clean sheets, the touch of silk on his skin.

"Where am I?" he asked, feverishly. And kindly blue eyes looked down at him.

"Strathmore!" he gasped.

"You mustn't talk, old man. Go to sleep!" was the gentle answer.

A couple of days later he was seated on the balcony, but now he was well dressed and his stomach was no longer empty. Beside him was Colonel Strathmore.

"You are sure you are strong enough to go to the inequest?" the colonel asked anxiously.

"Quite sure. And so the poor devil is dead. Well, she wanted to die."

An hour later Philbank entered the mortuary and his eyes rested on the face of the woman whose life he had struggled to save.

"Heaven!" he cried, and his voice was filled with horror. It was the woman who had ruined his life. He touched her head and trembled at its chill. Her eyes—they were blue—were open, and on her forehead was a bruise. Slowly he bent his head, and the lips touched the discolored skin; the memory of fierce kisses overwhelmed him.

And then he went out to face the world.

Mice Aeronauts.
There is a young Hungarian in New York who has an ingenious turn of mind, spiced with humor. His lodging is on the seventh floor, which for some time had been infested with mice. He traps two, and sometimes three, a day. There is a flag-pole fixed just below his window in a nearly horizontal position.

Having fixed an improvised paper parachute to the tail of the mouse, he starts him off along the pole. The rod invariably runs to the other end, then a sudden shake of the pole, and he is dislodged and slowly and gracefully descends to the street below, whence he scampers along the pavement, followed by his uncanny attachment, to the bewilderment of the passers-by.

Lace Hatpins.
Little home-made lace medallions—Irish or German crocheted lace—will form very exquisite tops to silk-covered hatpins.

Choose, or make, those about an inch and a half in diameter, and apply them to the top of a flat or slightly rounded disk-shaped pinhead. In most cases the silk covering is put on the pinhead first, and the lace is sewn on by hand afterward.

WING ORNAMENTS

Wings, large and small (but mostly small), have been made for late summer and early fall millinery and the manufacturer has considered their mounting in nearly every case. The base of the wing is set in a little dish of feathers or a raised band or some other device that will adjust itself to the brim or crown of shapes. This is sewed to the hat and the wings spring from it at all sorts of odd angles and in many novel positions.

Among the prettiest wings are those that show two colors, one on the upper and a contrasting color on the under side. That is, the wing is lined with small feathers in a contrasting color. Most of these two-toned wings are large and used on long velvet turbans of white they form the only decoration and all that is needed.

Wide-brimmed shapes with small wings poised on the brim edge or crown suggest to the mind butterfly bedecked hats. Some of the wings are very like huge butterflies. The manner of posing the wings in nearly every case suggests a bird or butterfly just ready for flight, a matter of personal arrangement.

Wings have come to stay for some time. As they are made now, they are for more durable than in past seasons. The feathers are sewed to a foundation, and considering the time and experience necessary to make them, it is a wonder they can be sold so cheaply.

Next to the wing for street hats, standing brushes promise to make the best impression. These are manufactured, also, with ornamental stem mountings of feathers. They may be sewed to the hat without the use of an ornament of any kind. Nevertheless small flat bows and other bows are often used with them. As the season advances other ornaments may increase in favor, for they are new and already well launched upon a revival.

HANDSOME BLOUSE.

The drawing pictures a handsome blouse of sand-colored chiffon over taffeta in a slightly deeper shade. A cluster of small tucks on the shoulder contributes a slight fullness to the front and a vest of brown taffeta with upper part of sand-colored taffeta give an effective depth of tone to the color scheme. There are tiny revers of colored shadow lace. Turning back from either side of the vest opening is a length of brown lace edging. Worn with a handsome brown tailor-made, this waist would be most effective.

The shoe top will now go into retirement.
Skirts may be any wider.
But they are longer—which helps some.
Some folks may drop their hammers now.

Usually there is another up their sleeve for the next change of fashion. Heigh-ho! but busybodies cannot be expected to neglect their jobs.

New Hats Artistic.
The grotesque, and in reality "bad" style of shape of hats worn in recent years seems to have given place to artistic developments. Most of them are modifications of a past period, we see the "Watteau" shape in different sizes, with wreaths of flowers and ribbons, or ribbon velvet streamers, which is such a sweet fashion for the girls. Large hats of the Gainsborough order are trimmed with one long feather. These feathers are quite as beautiful as the celebrated one worn by the duchess of Devonshire at the coronation of George IV.

Of Black and Sapphire.
A lovely afternoon gown which would prove an immensely valuable acquisition to the autumn wardrobe is of black tulle, patterned with bright sapphire blue and draped over a nixon skirt supplemented with embroidered flounces, trimmed with bands and great flat bows of black satin.

The mixture of soft satin and tulle, sapphire blue and the pattern overdress of another.

Good Form in Dress.
Few women know how to put on their clothes. This sounds like a very startling statement, but let us stop and think over the matter quietly.

How frequently we see women with dainty, well-made and even well-cut clothes, and yet how few appreciate the beauty of the garment, and why? Because the blouse is not pulled down tightly at the waist line and fastened in place either by hooks and loops or safety pins. Then, too, the collar is probably not carefully boned so that it will fit the neck snugly. Each woman should study the shape of her own neck (not some one else's) and find just where the bones must be placed in order to make the collar fit well.

Memory Aid for Busy Men

The first mechanical apparatus intended to prevent the busy man from forgetting any of his engagements has just been described, with illustration, in Popular Mechanics. The new memory device is operated by a large spring, released at predetermined intervals by an ordinary clock. It is a desk fixture which keeps accurate time and occupies a desk space only six inches in height and eight inches long. It has the appearance of a desk clock with three sets of pigeon holes, one series for the months of the year, another for the days of the month, and the third for each quarter of an hour of the day.

A busy professional or business man wishing to be reminded of something he is to do in the future makes a memorandum of it on a card and drops it into the case in the pigeon hole set

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JAMES S. SHERMAN.

FOR CONGRESS,
HON. HARRY BAILEY.

"We oppose both parties on the Tariff," said Col. Roosevelt in Minnesota recently "The Republicans want a Tariff for privilege, and the Democrats a Tariff for destruction. We favor a Tariff commission; not a little dinky board. Our proposal is a Tariff for labor." The present prospect is that the "Tariff for destruction," has the inside track. —Brooklyn Times.

SENATOR FORAKER'S WISE WORDS

"It is the duty of every loyal, self-respecting colored man in the nation to rally to the support of the Republican party and vote its ticket, from President Taft at the head of it, down to the last man on the county ticket." —Former Senator Foraker in Letter to Colored Baptist Ministerial Association.

The colored ministers of the Baptist denomination adopted resolutions to ask Senator Foraker for advice as to what the attitude of the negro voter should be at this time and in this campaign, and Mr. Foraker has promptly answered. The above quotation is the closing sentence of his letter, sent to the ministers, and is typical of the whole. One of the questions was as to Theodore Roosevelt's purpose in his declaration at the time of his nomination by the Progressive convention regarding a "white man's party" in the South. Mr. Foraker says of that: "In my opinion it means to make of the Progressive party in the South a white man's party for the purpose of popularizing the party with white people, especially the white Democrats of the South and thus make it possible to break up the solid support of the Democratic party by the Southern States.

"While the Republican party may have fallen short of what it should have done in this or that or the other instance, it remains that it is the only political organization to which the negro can look with hope for the future. In other words, it is as true now as when first stated, that for the negro 'the Republican party is the ship; all else is the sea.'

A good deal has been said recently about the battle of Armageddon. In view of this proposition, if I were a colored man, I would want to hear less about Armageddon and more about Apomattox.

Mr. Foraker says also that he regards the coming election as one of the most important ever held in this country. He cites the threat to destroy the protective policy, the attacks on the Federal constitution and our form of government, the attempts to take from the courts the power that safeguards personal liberty, and other similar issues. For many years former Senator Foraker has been regarded by many of the leading colored men of the county as a steadfast friend of their race.

The young man who is going to cast his first ballot at the November election should ask his father to tell him of the times we had under the Wilson Tariff law which was in operation from 1893 to 1897.

"Hello, Colonel! How did you leave things at Washington?"
"Bully—in good shape; left Taft sitting on the lid."

The people believed that then; and three year's service has confirmed that belief.

Ollie James in his speech at the Ratification Meeting in Lexington, predicted that Kentucky would roll up a plurality of 150,000 for Woodrow Wilson the coming November.—Winchester Democrat.

If dreams came true wouldn't "Big Ollie" be a wonderful man. Somebody should wake up Ollie.

Wage earners have begun the building of homes since Free-Trade was banished in 1897. They have paid for them in most instances and are paying on them now in others through the medium of building loans, all made possible by the excess compensation insured by a rigid adherence to our national policy of Protection.

A pair of shoes cost the wearer from $2 to $3.50 when there was a "Tariff for revenue only," but the wage earner had not the price unless he deprived himself of other necessities. Shoes cost between $3 and $5 now, but the wage earner has the money because under our scheme of Protection he can earn from $5 to $10 more a week than in 1892.

THE SILENT MILLIONS.

The silent millions have taken no part in the primaries of either party. A larger percentage of Republicans have participated in primaries this year than in the Democratic ranks. Roughly speaking, at least two-thirds of the voters have abstained from expressing a primary choice.

Those active in party management and in the struggle for party control may imagine that they are the party, but the millions silent will decide the issue in November. Not in the crowds before the talented speakers; not in the deliberations of the party leaders, are the real issues threshed out. The real issues are threshed out in farm-houses, in city homes, when the man of the house and the good wife talk over matters together.

Raps At Random.

Lippincott's Magazine.

A girl has plenty of time to decide on the details of her wedding before the man has figured out whether her eyes are blue or gray.

Being conservative in politics never keeps a man from being screamingly insurgent in the matter of ties and socks.

A really clever woman never makes the mistake of assuming that only a man can comprehend her cleverness.

You may cure the vices of a bad woman, conquer the shortcomings of the indifferent woman, but nothing will avail in the face of a good woman's prejudices.

The woman who "dares to be different" is talked about, the man who plays the game is merely tolerantly laughed at—but at best the woman wouldn't change places with him.

HIS EXAMINATION.

"So you want to marry my daughter?"
"Yes, sir."
"Got any money saved up?"
"Yes, sir."
"Could you let me have $5,000 on my unsecured note?"
"I could, but I wouldn't."
"I guess you can take care of her all right. She's yours, my boy, and here's a 5-cent cigar."

OLD FARM FOR SALE

—ON—

The 23d Day of November,

At 2 o'clock p. m., we will offer for sale to the highest bidder the old Lloyd farm of

256 Acres

On the Salem Turnpike, one and a half miles Southeast of Germantown, in Mason county. This farm has been in continuous possession of the Lloyd family since 1812. It has had careful management, has always been a famous tobacco farm, and is now in a high state of cultivation. This farm can be divided to advantage and will be offered for sale in parcels and as a whole. There is a good two-story dwelling, a tenant house, all necessary outbuildings, barn room for 25,000 pounds of tobacco, a never-failing and well-distributed supply of stock water, and fencing in good condition. The place is one and a half miles from churches and schools or a good turnpike that leads to the stable door. This farm pays a good price, either as an investment or as a home. For further information apply to Dan H. Lloyd, Germantown, Ky.

EVAN LLOYD'S HEIRS.

Philadelphians are carrying whiskey in their walking sticks. That is a better place for it than the alimantary canal.

The pupils of a certain school were asked to write original compositions on "Kings." The prize was carried off by the youth who handed in the following: "The most powerful King on earth is Wor-king; the laziest, Skir-king; one of the worst Kings, Smo-king; the witliest, Jo-king; the quietest, Tho-king; the thirliest, Dis-king; the slyest, Win-king; the noisiest, Tal-king." —Exchange.

High School Football

The first game of the season will be played at the ball park today between Maysville and another High School. Owing to three weeks of faithful practice our boys have developed a pretty fast team. Come out and give your support.

Admission of 15c for children and 25c for adults will be charged to make expenses. Come out and root.

New Comet Visible

Gale's comet can be seen every evening between sunset and 8 o'clock in the Southwestern heavens. The comet is visible to the naked eye. Just now the heavenly visitor is slightly South of being in line with the sun. On October 4th it was in a direct line with the sun, and then proceeded on Northward. The comet is distinctly visible if a field glass is used. Up to the present it has not developed a tail, but scientists believe the appendage may be acquired at any time as the body approaches the earth. The comet was discovered on September 1st last, by Astronomer Gale at Sydney, Aus.

Col. Thomas A. Respass sustained a severe fall down the stairs at his boarding house in West Front street a few days ago. His arms, hands and body were badly bruised. His friend, Dr. Thomas E. ### CONVICTS

May Be Used on Roads in Ohio
—Experimental Highway
Now Being Built

Success of convicts from the Ohio Penitentiary as road builders on a fine experimental highway a mile in length, which the State Highway Department is building this fall on the South High street road, near Columbus, has convinced State Highway Commissioner, James R. Marker and President Allen W. Thorburn and his colleagues on the State Board of Administration that road building by the prisoners can be begun next year on a sizeable scale.

Accordingly they will draft for presentation at the next General Assembly a bill embodying complete plans for use of the prisoners on the roads of the State.

It is recognized that in order to be economical the prisoners must be worked under the "honor system;" otherwise the cost of keeping guards to watch them would be quite as much as the value of the labor done. It is contended by prison officials that as a result of experience they can hold escapes to the minimum, even though they extend the honor system considerably.

The work being done by prisoners this fall as road builders will result in the completion of one of the most elaborate experimental roads ever constructed in the United States. It is admittedly much superior to anything that has been attempted by the Federal Road Department at Washington. Every form of road construction is being tried, and the results in the way of endurance and comparison as to cost are expected to prove a guide when the State enters on a more general road plan.

The Commissioner is trying brick road, asphalt block, various forms of concrete and all the various bituminous coatings.

MAYSVILLE, KY., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1912

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

The women who have a dread of their husbands marrying a second time generally live to a ripe old age.

B. S. Hensley, 76 a wealthy resident of Beebag, N. C., was shot and instantly killed in a dispute.

WITNESS AFTER WITNESS IN MAYSVILLE

SUCH EVIDENCE OUR READERS CANNOT DISPUTE

As we take up THE LEDGER week by week, we are struck by the hearty, unmistakable way in which witness after witness speaks out as Mrs. McClelland does here. If these people were strangers living miles away, we might take little notice of them. But they are not. They are our neighbors, living among us. Their word is too easily proven to admit of any doubt. They speak out in the hope that their experience may be a guide to others.

Mrs. Annie McClelland, 541 West Second street, Mayville, Ky., says: "Don's Kidney Pills did me a lot of good and I recommend them as doing just what is claimed for them. I was often dizzy and nervous and my head ached. I had pains in my back and my kidneys were weak. Don's Kidney Pills stopped the complaint immediately and made me well and strong."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THE LIGHTNING CHANGE ARTIST

—Halliday in Providence Journal

District Attorney Wayman, of Chicago, and his assistants issued twenty warrants in the vice crusade.

Seven young men are held by the Chicago police charged with forging checks, on which they are alleged to have secured $50,000.

WEATHER FORECAST

Has it That Old Crimp is to Come Early and Stay Quite a While Georgetown News-Democrat.

Advance reports from amateur weather prophets of the rural districts presage an early, long and cold winter. "Birds are migrating to the South this fall earlier than ever before," said Wayne E. Courtwright, a farmer living near Westerville.

All the old signs, predicting a long, cold season, have been hauled forth and garnished, ready for fall circulation. According to the Westerville forecaster, squirrels are already hunting their winter supply of nuts. Hair on horses and cattle has commenced to grow longer, while barbers say that the growth of beard on men's faces has been slackened by the early fall breezes.

Whether the predictions of the amateur forecasters are authentic, it will soon be time for the groundhog to crawl into his winter quarters, spike the gas meter and settle down for a long sleep.

KILLED FIFTY YEARS AGO

Sunday, September 29th, marked the fifty anniversary of the death of General William Nelson. General Nelson was a naval officer, but was placed in command of the volunteer forces in Kentucky, being attached to General Buell's command. He was slain in the Galt House in Louisville on September 29th, 1862, in a personal quarrel with General Jefferson C. Davis, another Union officer, who was a native of Clark county, Ind. General Nelson was born in Washington, this county, in 1825. The killing caused a great sensation at the time, and the Galt House, which at that time was noted as the greatest hostelry in the South, was brought into still greater prominence.

The Value of Good Books

Let your boy escape for a time from the meanness of the boy across the street, and let him roam the woods with Hiawatha, sail the seas with Sinbad, build stockades with Crusoe, fight dragons with Jason, just with Galahad; let him play at quills with Odysseus, and at football with Tom Brown. These are playmates who will never quarrel with him, nor bully him, but from whom he will learn to be brave, self-reliant, manly, quick to do for others, and set with his face toward the light. "Tell me what company thou keepst, and I will tell thee what thou art," says the old Spanish proverb. ### EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION

On Cigar Trade Will Be Investigated by Cigar Makers' Union

BALTIMORE, MD.—Prohibition and its effect on the cigar trade will be investigated by the Cigar Makers' International Union of America, wherever there are local unions of the International.

A resolution directing such inquiry was adopted at the convention. It had been charged by prohibitionists and by psychologists that tobacco is a natural and inseparable companion to strong drink, and the cigar makers desire to get at the facts for themselves.

SHORTAGE OF QUAIL

Young Birds Have Been Seldom Noticed This Season

While there is said to be a great number of rabbits this season, it is generally commented that there are no quail in the fields. Last season quail were more numerous than in many years past, and with the protection they received, because of posted farms, the prediction was that the numbers this season would be far greater than ever before. The long, cold winter killed many of them and those remaining, it is said, did not mate during the season, but remained in coveys.

When the quail fail to pair off there is no nesting, and persons who have been over the country remark that while they have seen old birds they have observed but few young ones.

Reports from every section is that it has been years since the quail was so few in numbers.

Fifty years ago last Friday, September 27th, occurred the fight at Augusta, between the Confederates, under General Duke, and the home guards.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. MASON CIRCUIT COURT.

Mary C. Smith's Adm'r. et als., Plaintiffs, vs.
Mary J. Pierce, Defendants.

Judgment and Order of Sale.

In obedience to a judgment and order of sale in the above styled action, I will, as Master Commissioner, on

MONDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1912,

At 1:30 o'clock p. m., proceed, at the Courthouse door in Mayville, Ky., to sell at public outcry and to the highest and best bidder the following described property, in order to settle the estate of Mary J. Pierce, deceased:

Said property consists of a certain lot of ground with a two-story frame dwelling house and other improvements thereon, lying and being on the East side of Limestone street, between Second and Third streets, in the City of Mayville, county of Mason and state of Kentucky, and bounded as follows, to-wit: Beginning with the lower line or S. H. Nicholson on Limestone street; thence back from said street with said line 66 feet; thence at a right angle toward said street, and parallel with said street, Northwardly 34 feet; thence with said Nicholson's line, 28 feet and 8 inches; thence obliquely 3 feet and 2 inches to a point 22 feet from Nicholson's line; thence 10 feet and 2 inches to a point 21 feet and 2 inches from Nicholson's line; thence 1 foot at a right angle in the direction of Nicholson's line; thence 24 feet and 2 inches, parallel with Nicholson's line, to Limestone street, making the whole distance, in a straight line, 66 feet; thence with Limestone street 31 feet to the place of beginning, being the same property conveyed to the said Mary J. Pierce by W. H. Wadsworth, Commissioner, and others, by deed recorded in Deed Book 73, page 426, Mason County Court Clerk's office.

Also, the other parcel of real estate, situated immediately in the rear of that above-described and the lot of said Nicholson, and bounded as follows: Beginning at the second corner made in the foregoing sale of the said lot, and running thence Southwardly with the line of said lot 34 feet to the corner of Nicholson's lot, and continuing the same course with Nicholson's line 19 feet and 44 inches, in all 53 feet and 44 inches; thence extending back Eastwardly 54 feet to a 12-foot alley laid off by Robert Buckler, the whole width aforesaid, 53 feet and 44 inches; being the same lot conveyed by Robert Buckler, by deed dated May 10th, 1890, and recorded in the Mason County Court Clerk's office; and which is a part of the transfer referred to by W. H. Wadsworth et al. to Mary J. Pierce, by deed recorded in Deed Book 73, page 426, Mason County Court Clerk's office.

TERMS OF SALE—Said sale will be made upon a credit of one-half 1/2 of the purchase price in six (6) months and the remaining one-half 1/2 in twelve (12) months and possession to be given the purchaser upon the confirmation by the Court of the sale. The purchaser will be required to execute bond for the purchase price, with approved personal security, payable to me as Master Commissioner, and bearing six (6) per cent. interest thereon from the day of sale. A lien will also be retained upon the property sold to secure the payment of the purchase price.

IDEAS FOR HOME BUILDERS

BY WM. A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 178 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

When a man builds a house there is one factor that often is overlooked by him.

He sometimes fails to realize that he is not only under certain obligations to himself and his family, but he is also under a deep obligation to the community in which he purposes to build.

For instance, a man has no moral right to put a lot in a community of fine houses and place thereon an architectural monstrosity, or a house whose freakish design will detract from the neighborhood.

The desire of home owners in every neighborhood is to have the houses that are built even better than those already there. In other words, progressiveness is the watchword in home building as in all other things.

A man cannot do a more foolhardy thing than to build a dry goods box which, though not expensive, will be a credit to any community.

The first thing to study in the matter of house building is the lot, its size and the surroundings. The frontage will largely determine the design and the arrangement of the rooms.

The house here shown is beautifully adapted to a corner lot where ample lawn space can be had. The first floor or story can be of concrete blocks or plaster finish. The wide exposed chimney, giving the impression of the cheerful fireplace within, breaks the monotony of the end elevation, as the dormer does on the front. The size of this house is not as large as might appear from the design. It is 32 feet, 9 inches wide, and 41 feet, 6 inches long, exclusive of the porches.

The front porch is of ample size, and one enters directly into the living room from it. This room is 15 by 18 feet in size. The architect has yielded to that demand for the parlor that still obtains in most localities, and has provided one 12 feet, 6 inches wide and 15 feet long. With the wide folding doors the living room and the parlor can be made practically one. The dining room is 12 feet by 12 feet, 6 inches; and a beautiful feature here is the conservatory opening from it. The kitchen is 12 feet, by 12 feet, 6 inches. On the second floor are three bedrooms, a bathroom and a study. This latter room also may be used as a sewing room or as an additional bedroom if so desired.

It is estimated that this house can be nicely built and finished for $4,000 house, or a cheap looking structure in a community of fine residences. For he and his family will be ostracized, and rightly so, by their neighbors.

Nor is there any necessity for houses of this character. Well and accurately drawn plans are available and designs are to be had for houses

TERMS FOR STENOGRAPHER FOR LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

Art of Shorthand Writing Has Been and Is Known by a variety of Names.

Possibly not one in 100 of New York's numerous "key tappers" knows that the art of shorthand writing is known by other names than "stenography." "Thachygraphy" is only one of them. Its second part, of course, comes from the same root as the latter end of "stenography"—that is, from the Greek "grapho," meaning to write. "Tachy" is derived from the Greek "tachy," meaning swift; so only the shorthand writer who has the ability to take down rapid speech and transcribe it quickly has the right to call himself or herself a "tachygrapher." (The "ch" sound is like that of "k.") "Stenography," comes from "grapho" combined with "steno," which means "narrow" in Greek. So a "stenographer" is either a narrow writer, or she or he practices "narrow writing."

Not so many years ago we heard a good deal about "phonography" as a name for shorthand writing, but the term seems to have gone out of use. It comes from that same useful root "grapho," combined with "phono." The latter word means "sound," so that a phonographer is one who writes down sound as he hears it. The phonograph is, of course, an instrument for writing or recording sound.

Then there are "brachygraphy" and "logography" as other names for what we generally call stenography. In the order given, they are derived from "grapho" combined with "brachy," meaning "short," "steno," meaning "covered," "secret" (a stenographer is one who writes in cryptic or mysterious writing, not to be read by the uninitiated) and "logos," meaning speech.

At a New York Hotel. "Those green peas were nice." "Weren't they? Let's have another portion. They're only $2 a portion." "Small portions, though. I'll order $50 worth. I'm rather hungry to-night."

British Alienist Says Science Must Surrender to Romance, and Gives Reasons.

Sir James Crichton Crowne, a distinguished British alienist, scientist and eugenicist, in an address at Sheffield, declared that science takes a back seat in favor of romance and that he believes in love at first sight. He said:

"I am a believer in the love match, not only from a romantic, but from the eugenic viewpoint. I feel I am on firm ground in recommending a return to nature in relation to marriage, and with a due allowance for those natural forces that are, perhaps, more far-sighted in the future of race improvement than we see with the best scientific spectacles.

"Love at first sight of the right kind is a physiological epoch, corresponding with the installation of new circuits in the brain. There is nothing more beautiful in the world than the love match. It is sacred, divine."

Diplomatic Compliments. Francis I. Madero, president of Mexico, is a small man and somewhat sensitive on the subject. Not long ago Madero and his cabinet were photographed. Abraham Gonzalez, secretary of state, is a very tall man and stout, and he was required to stand next to Madero when the picture was taken.

Madero lifted his eyes to the top of the head of the great Gonzalez, observed the difference in stature and coughed slightly. Then he said: "I feel that my size will not show to advantage unless we are seated."

PORK GROWN MOST CHEAPLY BY FEEDING SOME GRAIN TOGETHER WITH FORAGE

It Has Been Shown at Different Experiment Stations That the Best Forage Crops Are Little More Than Maintenance Ration—Alfalfa Excels.

Results of investigations at the Missouri experiment station indicate clearly that pork can be produced most cheaply by feeding grain in combination with forage.

The kind of grain depends, of course, upon the forage crop. In the work done at this station, in general, when the forage was a legume, such as alfalfa, clover, cowpeas or soy beans, straight corn was the grain fed. With non-leguminous forages, such as bluegrass, rape and oats, sorghum or rye, the corn was supplemented with linseed oil meal, the ration being made up of six parts corn to one part of oil meal.

While the kind of grain to feed is amount foraged off by hogs. At this station, with half feed of grain, alfalfa was found to carry twelve head for 168 days.

While it took five or six pounds of grain to the pound of gain, in dry lot feeding, only a trifle over three pounds was required when the hogs ran on alfalfa.

Red clover ranks next to alfalfa as a forage crop for swine. It will carry so many head per acre, nor furnish pasture for so long a period as will alfalfa. In two different trials it was found that the value of an acre of clover for hog feed is more than $34. Care should be taken with clover not to pasture it too closely, and to Excellent Berkshire Type.

Important, the amount of grain is of equal, if not greater, importance in determining the economy of grains. It has been shown at different stations that the best forage crops are little more than a maintenance ration.

If gains are to be made, then, it is necessary to feed some grain in addition to the forage. Experiments indicate that the greatest economy of grain through the use of forage is obtained when one and one-half to two pounds of grain are fed daily for each 100 pounds of live weight.

Where alfalfa can be grown successfully there is probably no crop that will give better results for swine feeding. An acre of alfalfa will pasture, during the grazing season, from ten to twenty hogs. The important point to be observed is not to pasture too closely. Best results are obtained by so pasturing that one or two cuttings of hay may be taken off the field during the season in addition to the let it reach a height of 10 to 12 inches before turning onto it.

The best results with annual forage crops at this station have been obtained with rape in which have been sown a few oats. The Dwarf Essex is the variety of rape used. If it is not pastured too closely it will come up again after the first growth, in favorable seasons. The data in this series of experiments with rape showed that an acre of it is worth $22.84 for pork making. At the Wisconsin station better results were obtained with it, surpassing even the clover.

Bluegrass requires the feeding of more grain than do these other crops, and it is only available in the early summer and after the fall rains. In a number of trials at the Missouri station the average return was found to be $15.18 per acre.

In general the amount of grain required to make a pound of pork in the dry lot was 5.11 pounds, and the amount required on forage was 3.49 pounds. Thus there was a saving of about 30 per cent. of grain, which is replaced by the cheaper forage.

HOE IS MOST HANDY OF FARM IMPLEMENTS

Most Useful Tool in Equipment of Gardener or Farmer—Should Be Kept Sharp.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)

So many people have a horror of using a hoe. It is the most comfortable implement to be found in the equipment of a gardener or farmer, and it is handy to use for so many purposes that one cannot get along without it.

Probably one reason that people do not like the hoe is that most hoes explain at once how "dull as a hoe" came into proverbial use.

A dull hoe is certainly not a pleasant implement with which to work. The good gardener will keep his favorite hoe filed to a sharp edge all the time. It is impossible to grind a hoe on a grindstone because the bevel must be on the upper side of the blade when it is in use in order to make the hoe "bite" into the soil.

File your hoe, making the bevel about twice as wide as the thickness of the blade. Then keep it bright and when you go out after weeds the hoe slices through the soil so easily that hoeing is not much like hard work.

In hoeing a long slow movement should be made, if the soil is in good condition. Simply "scuffing" half an inch of the top soil is enough to kill weeds and one can go over a lot of ground in one day if the hoe is sharp and bright and the strokes long and smooth.

With a sharp hoe one can cut thistles, dock, dandelions and other noxious weeds with quickness, dispatch and ease. It is light to handle, easy to use and more effective than any other implement for many purposes.

In choosing a hoe select one the blade of which lies not quite flat on the floor when you are standing erect with the hoe handle extending from your hand when in working position to the floor. The heel of the hoe should not quite touch the floor from this position.

Such a hoe will bite into the soil easily, when it is bright and sharp and will work smoothly and effectively. Sharpen the hoe as soon as it gets noticeably dull. This will be hard on the hoe, but it saves muscle and hoes are cheap. Carry a small flat file in your hip pocket and do not allow a nick to stay in the hoe a minute after it is made.

Conserving the Snows. To conserve the snows of the Blue Mountains, in the Wenaha Forest Reserve, the government forestry bureau is planning to treat thousands of acres with shrubbery and develop dormant springs. There will be double the water supply in the summer, it is believed, when the treatment of the mountain forests is completed.

Teach Calf Early. The longer the calf is allowed to suck the cow the harder it will be to make it drink from a bucket.

EFFECT OF PLOWING ON YIELD OF WHEAT

Results Given of Experiments at Oklahoma Experiment Station

An experiment was conducted at the Oklahoma station for the purpose of determining the effect of early medium and late plowing upon the yield of wheat. As an average for five seasons, July plowing gave a return of 27.1 bushels per acre; August plowing yielded 24.3 bushels per acre; while late which had turned about the middle of September brought only 22 bushels per acre as an average.

If the wheat fields are plowed in July and are then worked down with tillage implements so that they do not present a rough, open surface, any rain which may fall throughout the summer will be absorbed and subsequent culture will enable the grower to save this supply for his crop. The same plan can be followed in preparing fields for alfalfa seeding.

Where it is intended to prepare the soil early in September, officials of the station recommend that special effort should be made to pulverize the seed bed thoroughly after plowing so that in the event of autumn rains being abundant, the crop will come through in good condition.

Cause of Spoiled Eggs. A. B. Lee, a special agent of the government, is going to establish an egg experiment station at Frankfort, to see why eggs spoil so quickly, and to work out plans whereby eggs may be kept in better condition on the farms than at present. It is estimated that about 10 per cent. of all the eggs received by the egg dealers are bad, and the government is doing all possible to find the cause.

Heaters for Orchard. Last year J. J. Hazelton, a large orchard owner near Springfield, Mo., placed 10,200 crude oil burners in his apple orchard and as a result sold over 200 barrels of apples, while other orchards in his immediate vicinity yielded nothing. Early this spring he installed 20,000 additional heaters and again saved his apple crop.

Winter Shearing. This season marks the extension of the practice of winter shearing. It is declared that the extra cost of housing required for winter shearing pays large returns.

A Valuable Cow. A Holstein cow, 3 years old, owned by E. Lamunon of Salville, N. Y., is reported to have averaged over 80 pounds of milk per day, from which was made 29 pounds of butter for seven days.

Profit in Geese. Geese are profitable to raise where one has pasture to turn them out on. They will require almost no grain food and are nearly clear profit when marketed at Thanksgiving or Christmas times.

SMILING MARTYRDOM.

Although the iceman brings to you a lump exceedingly small, You don't complain, for if you do He may not come at all.

BABY IN MISERY WITH RASH

Monroe, Wis.—"When my baby was six weeks old there came a rash on his face which finally spread until it got nearly all over his body. It formed a crust on his head, hair fell out and the itch was terrible. When he would scratch the crust, the water would ooze out in big drops. On face and body it was in a dry form and would scale off. He was in great misery and at nights I would lie awake holding his hands so that he could not scratch and disfigure himself. I tried simple remedies at first, then got medicine, but it did no good.

"Finally a friend suggested Cuticura Remedies, so I sent for a sample to see what they would do, when to my surprise after a few applications I could see an improvement, and he would rest better. I bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and before I had them half used my baby was cured. His head is now covered with a luxuriant growth of hair and his complexion is admired by everybody and has no disfigurements." (Signed) Mrs. Annie Saunders, Sept. 29, 1911.

Wanted a Site. Oh, yes; it was raining—had been all day. But they didn't mind that so much; you see, they were fishermen. All the same, they were trudging home, with weary steps and very weary-looking faces.

Their baskets were empty, and, to be candid, they were in a very bad temper. As they entered the little village a large dog ran at one of the party. The dog had a ferocious look, and was barking furiously. But the fisherman did not take much alarm at the animal. He just kicked it away carelessly.

"Aren't you afraid he'll go for you?" inquired another of the party, somewhat anxiously.

The one who had kicked at the dog looked at his companion in a sorrowful manner.

"I only wish he would!" he replied. "I'd chance almost anything to be able to go home and say I'd had a bite!"

Point for Sherlock Holmes. Somebody wondered how long a certain woman who had just left the room had been married.

"About 15 years," said the jeweler. "How do you know?" asked the jeweler's wife. "You never saw her until tonight."

"I can tell by the size of her wedding ring," he replied. "The width of wedding rings changes about every five years. The kind she wears was in style 15 years ago."

Almost Entirely. "Dick" Quay, at the Congress hotel in Chicago, was talking about a notorious politician.

"And he's worth eleven millions," Mr. Quay ended. "And is an entirely self-made man, too, I believe," said a correspondent. "Entirely so," Mr. Quay answered. "except for nine thick coats of white wash that have been applied to him by various investigating committees."

Seizing the Opportunity. She—Old Mr. Steiner told me he would marry me at once if he were twenty-five years younger.

He—Why, that would just be my age!

We Lead You To Fortune and Happy Life in California

Messrs. J. S. & W. S. Kuhn, the Pittsburgh bankers, are doing in the Sacramento Valley what the U.S. Government is doing elsewhere for the people.

There is ten times more net profit per acre in California irrigated land than in the East and with less labor.

Let us take you where there is comfort and happiness besides profit, climate equal to that of Southern Italy, no frosts nor snow, no thunderstorms nor sunstrokes.

Let us take you where big money is now being made, markets are near, demand for products great and income is sure.

Let us take you where railroad and river transportation is near, where there are denominational churches and graded schools.

Now is the time to buy this land—get in with the winners, the great Panama Canal will soon be ready and you will share in its triumphs; farms are selling rapidly, and we strongly urge you to purchase as soon as possible.

You can buy this land on very easy terms—$15.00 an acre now and the balance in ten yearly payments. Give us an opportunity to take up all details with you—write us now.

Let us send you our fine illustrated printed matter telling all about it. Write for it at once—it gives you absolute proofs.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

$3.00 $3.50 $4.00 $4.50 AND $5.00

FOR MEN AND WOMEN
Boys wear W. L. Douglas $2.00, $2.50 & $3.00 School Shoes, because one pair will positively outwear two pairs of ordinary shoes, same as the men's shoes.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more $3.00, $3.50 & $4.00 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

THE STANDARD OF QUALITY FOR OVER 30 YEARS.

The workmanship which has made W. L. Douglas shoes famous the world over is maintained in every pair.

Ask your dealer to show you W. L. Douglas latest fashions for fall and winter wear, notice the short vamps which make the foot look smaller, points in a shoe particularly desired by young men. Also the conservative styles which have made W. L. Douglas shoes a household word everywhere.

If you could visit W. L. Douglas large factories at Brockton, Mass., and see for yourself how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they are warranted to fit better, look better, hold their shape and wear longer than any other make for the price.

CAUTION.—To protect you against inferior shoes, W. L. Douglas stamps his name on the bottom. Look for the stamp. Beware of substitutes. W. L. Douglas shoes are sold in 75 shoe stores and shoe dealers every where. No matter where you live, they are within your reach. If your dealer cannot supply you, write direct to factory for catalog showing how to order by mail. Shoes sent every where, delivery charges prepaid. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

Not Successful. Mrs. Knicker—Why don't you go to the market yourself?

Mrs. Bocker—No, indeed; that's just the way Jack told me he lost his money.

GETTING GREYER—OLD MAN AND BALD TOO.

Looking twenty years older than you really are. Being made the laughing stock of your friends and the butt of their jokes "Old Age Class" simply because grey hairs are so closely associated with old age. It is very humiliating to be grey and bald when your age doesn't justify either—to be classed as a "Has Been" and set aside by your young friends as too old for them—to be turned down possibly, in your application for that new position because you are "YOUNG-LOOKING MAN WAS WANTED."

At 7:30 the council fire of Wyandotte Tribe will be kindled and the adoption, warrior and chiefs degrees will be conferred on such palefaces as may be found astray in the forest.

There will be a big lot of visiting Redmen and a great time is expected by all.

MOTHERHOOD SUGGESTIONS

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consultant) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reynolds of Stanford, Ky., arrived yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith in Commerce street, for a short visit on their honeymoon trip. They received a cordial reception last night from their numerous friends here.

Another fine sermon at the Baptist Church last night. The pastor was at his best. There will be no services tonight. The Pastor will preach at both morning and evening services tomorrow. The Pastor of the Lewisburg Baptist Church will have charge of the services Monday evening. Rev. Perryman will arrive Tuesday and will preach Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Everybody invited to all these services.

Services at Moransburg

Rev. W. W. Strickland of Carter county will preach in the Moransburg Christian Church, this Saturday evening, and also tomorrow, Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, and at 7 o'clock.

All invited, as Rev. Strickland may take regular charge of this Church.
